MEDICO LEGAL EXPERIENCE:

Dr Alexander-Williams is an experienced medical Expert Witness with 11 years' experience in medico-legal practice. He prepares reports instructed by both Claimant and Defendant on personal injury cases. To date, he has prepared over 1,800 medico-legal reports and currently completes approximately 150 reports per year, he undertakes clinical negligence cases as well as extensive cases in personal injury.

He provides independent expert opinion in full compliance with the Civil Procedure Rules and is fully aware of the overriding duty of an Expert Witness to the Court. His reports address issues of liability, condition and prognosis, causation and breach of duty.

Dr Alexander-Williams is an expert in pain management, with particular expertise in pain syndromes, including complex regional pain syndrome (CRPS), spinal pain, neuropathic pain and headache disorders. He has extensive experience in analysing and explaining complex and often contested pain-related conditions in a clear and accessible manner for solicitors, counsel, and the judiciary.

Dr Alexander-Williams is Secretary of the Medico-Legal Special Interest Group of the British Pain Society and remains actively engaged in professional development at the interface of pain medicine and medico-legal practice. He has experience in providing evidence in court when required.

CLINICAL EXPERIENCE:

Dr Alexander-Williams is a Consultant in Pain Management with over 20 years' experience in the assessment and management of complex pain conditions. He specialises in a multidisciplinary, biopsychosocial approach to pain management, incorporating diagnostic imaging, interventional procedures, and medication optimisation, working closely with radiologists, surgeons, psychologists, physiotherapists and other allied specialists.

He has been Clinical Lead in Pain Medicine at the Schoen Clinic since its opening and has been integral to the multidisciplinary pain team since its inception. Prior to leaving the NHS in 2021, he spent over two decades at Broomfield Hospital, Chelmsford, including 6 years as Head of Department and Lead Clinician for the Pain Service, delivering both NHS and private care across multiple hospital sites.

His clinical practice focuses on spinal pain (back, neck pain and sciatica), musculoskeletal pain, pelvic and abdominal pain, post-surgical pain and complex regional pain syndrome (CRPS). He runs specialist multidisciplinary clinics for chronic pelvic pain and abdominal visceral pain associated with gastroparesis.

He has held a number of senior leadership and governance roles, including Clinical Director, Trust Audit Lead, and MAC Secretary and has presented audit and research work regularly at national pain society meetings.
