CLINICAL EXPERIENCE:

Mr Tariq Adam Kwaees is a Consultant Trauma and Orthopaedic surgeon currently practicing at a tertiary referral centre for orthopaedics and a major trauma centre. His area of expertise in elective orthopaedics encompasses the full scope of knee surgery from newborns to adults, with a focus on bridging the gap between paediatric and adult knee surgery.

This is underscored by being the first surgeon to complete the only hyper-specialised, pan-spectrum fellowship in paediatric, adolescent, and adult knee surgery in the world.

He has an extensive list of qualifications in sports medicine in the UK and with the International Olympic Committee, in advanced biomechanics, health service management, and multiple qualifications in orthopaedic surgery with the Royal College of Surgeons of England and in the European Economic Area.

He teaches at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels in affiliation with several universities in Europe and the United Kingdom and have contributed to the medical literature with published chapters in the field of knee surgery and nanotechnology in Orthopaedics. His leadership positions include pivotal roles in infection control and in national and regional multidisciplinary meetings in orthopaedic radiology and paediatric sports knee surgery.
